

PRESIDENT DEMANDS ACTION ON ARMED SHIPS RESOLUTION

Declaring That Report of Dissensions in Congress Weaken Nation's Position Before World While Submarine Controversy Is Going on, Woodrow Wilson Writes to Acting Chairman of House Rules Committee, Asking That Early Vote Be Taken.

Special to the Morning News.

Washington, Feb. 29. — President Wilson decided today that he cannot proceed with the German submarine negotiations while dissension in congress weakens his position before the world, so he called for a show-down on the pending proposals to warn Americans off merchant ships of the belligerents armed for defense.

Making it clear that he considers the president, and not congress, is charged with the conduct of the foreign relations of the United States, he wrote a letter to Representative Pott, acting chairman of the house rules committee, asking him to provide parliamentary means for bringing the agitation out into the open on the floor of the house for full discussion and vote.

Later he summoned Senator Stone and Representative Flood, chairman of the foreign affairs committee, and Senator Kern, majority leader in the senate, for a conference at the white house tomorrow morning, at which he will request that one of the various pending resolutions be acted upon in both houses.

Administration leaders working steadily for the last week strengthening their lines and counting on the support of the republicans now are so sure of their position that they plan to end all agitation with a vote of confidence in the president. The president's letter to Mr. Pott, the signal that the administration was ready to give Germany a demonstration of unity, follows:

The President's Letter.

"My Dear Mr. Pott: Inasmuch as I learn that Mr. Henry, the chairman of the committee on rules, is absent from the house, I take the liberty of calling your attention as ranking member of the committee to a matter of grave concern to the country which can, I believe, be handled under the rules of the house clearly by this committee.

"The report that there are divided councils in congress in regard to the foreign policy of the government is being made industriously in foreign capitals. I have no doubt that it is false, but so long as it is anywhere credited, it cannot fail to do the greatest harm and expose the country to the most serious risks. I therefore feel justified in asking that your committee will permit me to urge an early vote upon the resolutions with regard to travel on armed merchantmen which have recently been so much talked about, in order that there may be afforded an immediate opportunity for full public discussion and action upon them and that all doubts and conjectures may be swept away and our foreign relations once more cleared of damaging misunderstanding.

"Matter is of so grave importance, and so clearly within the field of executive initiative that I venture to hope that your committee will not think that I am taking unwarranted liberty in making this suggestion as to the business of the house and I very earnestly commend it to their immediate consideration.

"Cordially and sincerely yours,

WOODROW WILSON.

This course was decided upon after today's cabinet meeting at which it was discussed and after a week's quiet, steady work at the capitol. Prompt action is desired particularly in the house where agitation has been most turbulent and where Speaker Clark predicted anti-administration resolutions when first introduced would have passed by a majority of 2 to 1. There never has been any question of the administration control of the senate side.

Adoption of the pending resolutions would practically amount to congressional repudiation of policies announced and contended for by President Wilson and Secretary Lansing, all through the submarine negotiations which more than once were at a crisis. With their defeat and an affirmation by a majority of congress of their confidence in the president's course, Mr. Wilson's supporters point out, he will be enabled to continue to contend for the principles of international law and humanity with a united government behind him and with the same force as he did before a minority in congress weakened his position more than all the arguments of the foreign diplomats with whom he had to contend.

Dispatches from Berlin and Vienna have pictured how the congressional agitation was received there as indications that the president in his demands upon Germany and Austria did not have the support of his own party and was being opposed by elected representatives of the people. The German determination not to recede from the announced purposes of the new submarine campaign to sink without warning all armed merchant ships, despite President Wilson's reiterated contention that such a practice was contrary to the principles for which the United States had contended with Germany ever since the sinking of the Lusitania.

It is known that among the elements leading to the president's action were repeated declarations of Germany's unyielding attitude expressed in inspired statements from Berlin by government officials and German government, some of which even approached intimations of bad faith on the president's part because the United States would not accept the view that the Lusitania guarantees applied only to ships carrying no armament whatever.

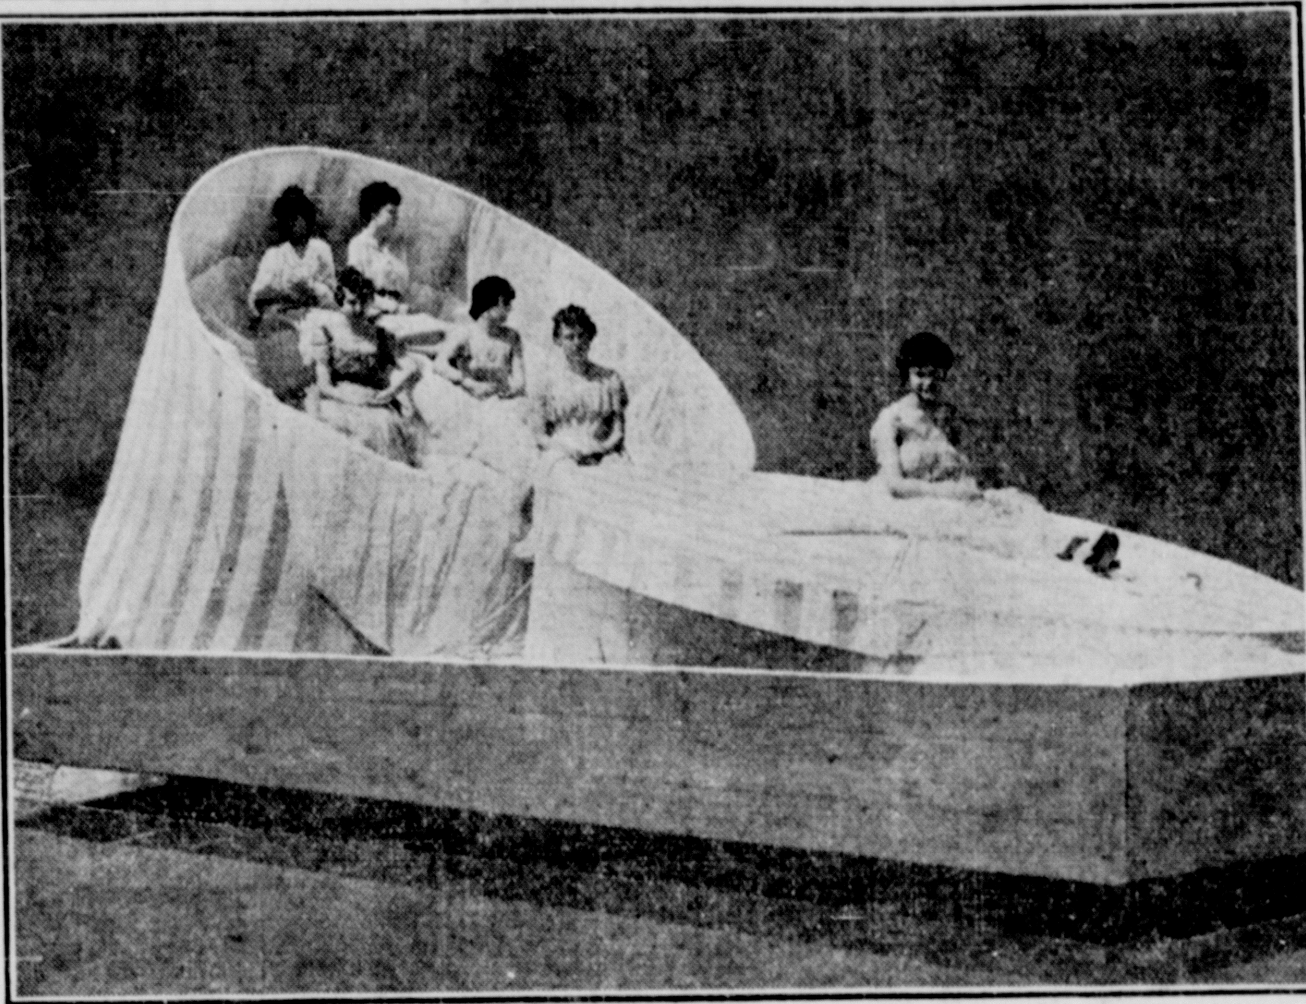

News of the president's decision came as a distinct surprise at the capitol, where the leaders of both houses heard of it first through reports of the press received by Mr. Pott. There were some expressions of dissatisfaction, particularly among members of the house, at the course adopted. Surprise was expressed that the president should appear at the risk of being elected to a position of which he had not been elected, and that he should have been elected to a position of which he had not been elected.

It is considered probable that action by both houses may be taken Thursday. An attempt hardly will be made to bring a resolution into the house tomorrow as under the rules it would require a two-thirds vote to permit its consideration on "calendar Wednesday."

Ten of Waco's this season's debutantes, riding in a handsome float, were one of the features of the opening parade of the Spring Style Show last night. The design of the float was typical of the occasion, being a huge Paris hat-box, lying with its cover open. Only six of the debutantes appear in the above photograph, which was made immediately after the completion of the float.

ST LOUIS VOTES TO SEGREGATE NEGROES

By the Associated Press.

St. Louis, Feb. 29.—Unofficial returns tonight show that both the proposed segregation ordinances carried by a majority of 34,344 in today's election, the vote being 52,220 for segregation and 17,876 against.

Homers G. Phillips and George L. Vaughn, leaders among the negroes in fighting the segregation ordinances, conceded that the ordinances have been approved by the voters.

The election was free from all serious trouble at the polls. The two propositions voted upon were similar in character. One of the ordinances provides that a negro cannot become a resident in a block occupied entirely by those of the opposite color. The other imposes the same restrictions on blocks containing 75 per cent white or the like percentage of negro residents.

Thompson Loses Ten Wards in Chicago

By the Associated Press.

Chicago, Feb. 29.—Six of the nine wards, the aldermen of which revolted against Mayor William Hale Thompson's republican-nominated anti-Thompson aldermanic candidates at the primaries today. The mayor's candidates were returned in the third, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh, eighth, ninth and tenth wards. In all, nineteen wards of the city's thirty-five put up anti-Thompson tickets.

Complete returns from the nineteen wards where fights were made on the Thompson candidates gave the mayor nine victories and his opponents ten. Among the democrats, Roger Sullivan's forces were sweepingly triumphant. Incomplete returns indicated to a practical certainty that they carried twenty-seven of the thirty-five wards.

VERY FEW VESSELS MENACED BY NEW SUBMARINE ORDER

By the Associated Press.

New York, Feb. 29.—Only a small proportion of the shipping plying between American and European ports—a fleet of armed Italian merchantmen—appears to be menaced by the new Teutonic submarine policy which goes into effect at midnight.

British and French ships that have arrived here and at other Atlantic ports during the last year have carried no guns. Seven Italian ships with naval guns mounted on their after decks and manned by trained crews from the Italian navy, have been plying between New York and Mediterranean ports since the first of the year and one similarly armed put in at Fort Arthur, Texas.

Five other Italian liners in the New York trade are understood to have been measured for armament to be placed on their next arrival at home ports. Of the latter the steamship San Giovanni sailed at noon today for

BATTLE FOR VERDUN STILL CONTINUES

By the Associated Press.

With the lessening of the activity of the contending forces north of Verdun, the French in the Woivre region, east of Verdun, are using their artillery to break up German preparations for further advances toward the fortress. At various points the fire of the French guns has prevented the Germans from launching offensives.

In the Vosges mountains there also has been great artillery activity by the French near Senones and Ban de Sapt, while near Senones the Germans have been driven out of trenches they had previously taken. In the Champagne, German fortified works in the region of hill 195 have been battered by the French guns and the crater of a mine exploded by the Germans was occupied by the French.

The Germans have added several additional points to their terrain in the fighting about Verdun, having been enabled to construct trenches on the slopes north of the Cote du Poivre and to capture an armored work northwest of Douaumont and have taken the towns of Manheulles and Champton, thirteen miles southeast of Verdun.

In this drive to the east of Verdun the advance had extended over a front of virtually twelve miles—from Dieppe to Champton.

Berlin reports that thus far they have taken prisoner 23 officers, 16,575 men and a large number of guns, machine guns and much war material.

There has been considerable artillery activity and fights in the air between batallions of German and British aviators along the British front in France and Belgium.

In the Dvinsk region of Russia the Russians have driven the Germans back and advanced their line and put down under heavy fire an attempt at a counter attack.

Details are lacking concerning the disaster to the French auxiliary cruiser Provence, which has been lost in the Mediterranean. While the French ministry of marine estimates the number of survivors at 870, no estimate is made of the casualties.

SPRING STYLE SHOW IS INAUGURATED BY PARADE AND FASHIONS DISPLAY

Curtains Over Windows of Downtown Shops Drop Away at Signal of Cannon Shot, Revealing the Latest Decrees in Wearing Apparel for Men and Women.

MANY FEATURES FOR REMAINING DAYS

Fashion and Automobile Parade Tomorrow Afternoon Will Be Crowning Event—Grand Ball at the Cotton Palace Coliseum Closes Show Friday Night—Two Balloon Ascensions From Fifth and Franklin Today.

Amid the blowing of whistles and the unveiling of the show windows of various stores on Austin avenue and the playing of patriotic airs by local bands, Waco's spring style show in all its grandeur was ushered in last night shortly after 8 o'clock before a cheering mob, one of the largest night crowds ever assembled in the business district of the city. For the benefit of the multitudes that thronged the streets the two local companies of the Texas National Guards and the city police force cleared the streets of all traffic and street car service was suspended for more than an hour while the elaborate parade, the crowning event of the evening, passed. After ropes had been placed where the cross streets intersect Austin avenue, automobiles were in line at some points for almost a block.

There was a signal given in order that the windows might be unveiled at the same moment the parade left the city hall square—the historical old cannon owned by Col. H. P. Jordan, which has seen service in the Civil war, was fired at Eighth and Austin streets and a large United States flag was raised, which started the parade on its march, and caused the curtains to be drawn from the windows displaying spring styles to be worn by the gentlemen and milady of 1916.

Another feature which followed the firing of the cannon was when large electric sign on the city hall was turned on reading in red letters, "Waco Worth While," and when the searchlight was thrown on the United States flag on top of the city hall building. These two features, arranged by City Electrician E. F. Copley, won much favorable comment from the admirers of the style show's evening program.

Miss Frances Van Boddie is Goddess. The crowds anxiously waited to learn the identity of the popular Waco society girl who was chosen to portray the Goddess of Liberty and the Goddess of the Style Show, taking a prominent part in the parade, and whose identity had been kept a profound secret. It was Miss Frances Van Boddie who had this honors bestowed upon her and who was loudly cheered as her float, typifying national preparedness, moved down Austin avenue.

The streets were brilliantly illuminated with special strings of light and also many of the buildings were exceptionally well lighted, special arrangements having been made for the spring style events. Special decorations were on some of the buildings.

New Mexican Revolution Proclaimed by Felix Diaz

By the Associated Press.

New York, Feb. 29.—General Felix Diaz sailed from New Orleans February 18 for Tuxpan, a Gulf of Mexico port in the oil country, on a vessel owned by him, according to information obtained today by the New York Herald. He is said to have landed at Tuxpan February 23 and joined a force which was waiting for him in the interior, marching them to Tierra Colorado ranch. From there he proceeded to Oaxaca, where he has established headquarters.

"Diaz has opened a line of communication with the United States and France by way of Guatemala," the Herald says. "A close personal friend in this city is named as authority for the statement that Diaz has thirty thousand men under arms and that part of them are moving against Mexico City, while another force is within striking distance of Jalisco, Vera Cruz.

"The moral support of President Carrera of Guatemala is reported to have been pledged to Diaz and the assertion is made that munitions of war from Guatemala had been landed on Mexican soil. Diaz agents are said to be negotiating with General Zapata to obtain the support of his forces."

By the Associated Press.

San Antonio, Feb. 29.—In a signed manifesto of 3000 words addressed to the nation Felix Diaz tells why he has started a revolution in Mexico. After reviewing the history of conditions in Mexico since 1913 he gives twenty-one reasons for the movement and says:

"It is impossible to contemplate any longer the sad sight without joining our arms with those groups of patriots who for some months have sustained with untiring constancy in various parts of the national territory the flag of order, justice and peace. Several Mexicans who have our country and its institutions have agreed to initiate in the republic an armed movement and this document, written on the ranch of Tierra Colorado, in the state of Vera Cruz, on February 23, 1916.

Y. M. B. L. Directors Told Meridian Highway Proposition Will Be Pushed.

That Waco will get the southwest convention of the employees of the Morris Packing company in March, has practically been assured according to a report of William T. Frank J. Traut announced that the S. A. & A. P. railroad officials had stated that it would be impossible for a stop to be made at Thompson's crossing, due to the heavy expense it would attach. This crossing is located one and a half miles from the end of the south belt street car line and citizens of that community will take further steps in efforts to have the trains make a stop there.

C. OF C. WORKERS TO BEGIN ON DOUBLE CAMPAIGN THIS NOON

Plans for the Chamber of Commerce campaign to increase membership and revenues will be discussed at a luncheon at the State House this noon. President Harry M. Ealpe and Secretary E. P. Drake both express extreme gratification over the interest shown and the prospects for a whirlwind successful campaign.

Twelve teams have been selected, each consisting of a captain and two other members. Efforts will be made to increase the membership and funds will also be raised to maintain the proposed Chamber of Commerce traffic department.

Each worker has been sent a copy of the following letter, just to let him know that it is time to act:

"Please do not forget that we are going to meet today at 12 o'clock sharp at the New State House for luncheon at which time we will discuss and start out on the campaign for increased revenue for the Waco Chamber of Commerce."

"We are looking forward to a most successful campaign and if every member of the 'Thirty-Three-Six' will do his part, we are assured of success in the highest era. On the other hand, if we are unsuccessful and we do not raise the required amount to establish a first-class traffic department which will insure Waco against discrimination in railroad rates, the majority of the Chamber of Commerce will establish their firms in another state not far distant and will have a branch in Waco only as a distributing plant. We cannot afford to sit idly by and allow such a calamity."

"You are called to the colors. Start off with a full attendance at noon today. Phone the other two members of your committee to be sure and be out. Let every other member of the thirty-six see if he cannot lead in subscriptions."

The farm is about 75 miles northwest of Taloga, an inland town in Dewey county in the western part of Oklahoma.

ENGLAND EXPLAINS SUB INSTRUCTIONS

LORD ROBERT CECIL SAYS MERCHANTMEN WERE ONLY TO DEFEND THEMSELVES.

Passage, Cited by Germany, Should Not Stand Alone, Is Declared.

By the Associated Press.

London, Feb. 29.—On the eve of the date set by Germany for the beginning of her new submarine campaign against armed merchant vessels, Lord Robert Cecil, minister of war trade, has issued a statement giving the British view of the status of such merchantmen. This statement, which is in answer to queries whether merchantmen have been instructed to take the offensive against submarines, says:

"The British view has always been that defensively armed merchantmen must not fire on submarines or on other warships except in self defense. The Germans have twisted a passage in a document taken from a transport which they sank into meaning that merchant vessels have instructions to take the offensive. This is not so."

"The passage in question, which lays down a maximum distance beyond which merchant ships are advised not to fire, must be read in conjunction with another passage which makes it perfectly clear that merchant vessels must not attack unless a submarine shows unmistakably hostile intentions."

The German memorandum dealing with armed merchantmen received from Berlin Feb. 19, contained the following alleged instructions to their merchantmen: "You are to have been taken from a British boat captured or sunk by the Germans."

"If a defensively armed vessel is pursued by a submarine the master has two alternatives: (a) to open fire at long range immediately. It becomes certain the submarine really is in pursuit; (b) to restrain fire until the submarine has come into range, say 800 yards, at which the fire is likely to be effective. In view of the great difficulty of distinguishing between a friendly submarine at long range and one British submarine already has been fired at by a merchant vessel which erroneously supposed itself pursued by the submarine, it is strongly recommended that course 'b' should be adopted by all defensively armed ships."

Sisal Money Bought Mexican Gunboat Says One of Buyers

By the Associated Press.

Washington, Feb. 29.—How part of a $450,000 letter of credit from the International Harvester company was spent for a gunboat and munitions for a revolution in Yucatan, Mexico, last year was told today to the senate committee investigating charges of a combination to control the output of sisal by Domingo F. Evia, who said he was one of a commission of five who went to New York to get the cash and buy the arms.

General Argumedo, who became governor of Yucatan in February, 1915, after a revolt against Governor Santos, had confiscated the Yucatan gold reserve to buy arms, Evia testified, when Avellino Montes, a sisal buyer, offered the letter of credit for which he received 3,500,000 pesos issued by the Mexican organization formed for marketing sisal.

Felipe Cantelero, a sisal planter, explaining to the committee the process of sisal marketing, said the pesos which handle the crop were paid nearly double their former wages since the output had been marketed by a commission of Yucatan farmers organized under government decree. He was unable to account for price fluctuations which existed in former times when, according to complaints, the International Harvester and the Plymouth Cordage companies enjoyed a monopoly of the crop.

Decrease in Pensions Favored.

Washington, Feb. 29.—Pensions of not less than $20 a month for all union civil war veterans seventy years old or more and eligible for the pension roll were proposed in a bill favorably reported to the house today. No official estimate of the amount the bill would add to pension appropriations has been made, but the total would be some millions of dollars.

By the Associated Press. Washington, Feb. 29.—An appropriation of $15,000 to be offered as a reward for a successful plan for preventing or exterminating the cotton boll weevil was asked in a bill introduced in the house today by Representative Burnett of Alabama.

Bombarding Congress.

Members of both houses of congress are besieged with petitions from their constituents urging an affirmative vote on the bill submitting the question of national prohibition to a poll of the states. The National W. C. T. U. is supplying voters' petitions, and 15,000 local unions, also a printed resolution endorsing the amendment to be adopted by organizations and public meetings generally. When signed the petitions and resolutions are returned to National W. C. T. U. headquarters at Evanston, Ill., are there classified and sent to W. C. T. U. headquarters in Washington and the superintendent there sees that each document reaches its proper senator or representative. The subcommittee, by a unanimous vote, reported the bill favorably to the senate judiciary committee. There will be no hearings and it is expected that the full committee will take action at an early date.

The District of Columbia prohibition bill has been reported to the senate without recommendation. This places it on the calendar for consideration at any time.

Wasn't Calling Her Dear.

Desirous of buying a camera, a certain fair young woman inspected the stock of a local shopkeeper. "Is this a good one?" she asked, as she picked up a dainty little machine. "What is it called?"

"That's the Belvedere," said the handsome young salesman, politely.

"There was a chilly silence. Then the young woman drew herself coldly erect and asked again:

"Er—and can you recommend the Velva?"—Kansas City Star.

Four Thousand More Chicagoans to Pay Income Tax in 1916

Chicago, Feb. 29.—The federal income tax will be paid by 4,000 more Chicagoans this year than last, according to a prediction made today by Julius F. Smietanka, the collector. His estimate was based on payments made up to today, the last but one for payment without penalty.

Forty-six thousand citizens of Chicago paid the tax last year. They contributed $2,497,581 and corporations paid $2,917,582.

Big List of Ships Not Armed Sunk Is British Claim

To Discard Aged or Weather-Soiled Skin

To free your skin of blotches, roughness, muddiness, over-redness, freckles or any cutaneous difficulty, the best thing to do is to free yourself of the skin itself. This is easily accomplished by the use of ordinary medicated wax. Use at night as you use cold cream, working it off next morning. Immediately the offending surface skin begins to come off in fine powder-like particles. Gradually the entire cuticle is absorbed in this way, causing no pain or inconvenience. Nor does the face exhibit any evidence of this treatment. The second layer of skin now in view presents a sparkling beauty and youthful robustness obtainable in no other way we have ever heard of. The medicated wax can of course be found in any drugstore and you won't need more than an ounce of it.

To free yourself of wrinkles or crow's feet, there's nothing better than the Saxolite lotion. You need only dissolve an ounce of powdered saxolite in a half pint of witch hazel and bathe your face in the solution. The effect is quite remarkable, the lines being less in evidence even after the first application.

Why I Live in McGregor, As Told by One Who Knows

By Staff Correspondent.

"Why do you live in McGregor?" said I. "What's that got to do with preparedness?" said he.

"Not a thing, particularly; but I do really want to know why you, an intelligent man, with a good share of your life before you, should choose this desolate, cross-roads town for a place in which to live when there are hundreds of up-to-date, first-class cities and towns in which you could live, enjoy life and do better in than you could possibly hope to do here," said I, not a mean word of it, of course, but in need of a story.

Said he to me: "I don't know where you are from, who you are or what your business is, but I can set you dead right that you are wrong. You look like a sensible man, but you talk like an air craft. Why do I live here? There are a thousand reasons. I have lived other places besides here and I could go back, but I am here because I want to be. McGregor is the best town in its size located in the best section of country in the state, we have the best schools, the merchants handle the best lines of goods, co-operate with the citizens in general and the farmers throughout the other localities in particular, etc., etc."—but I finally halted him and said:

"Now, listen, neighbor, I want to know the sure-enough, honest-to-goodness reason why you live in McGregor." "Well," he answered, "if you're going to pin me down like that, and if you are really interested and want to know, it's just this—you couldn't pull my wife away from this place with a Ford tractor. Why, she attended just a short time ago a meeting of the women of the town. Listen, do you know the meaning of the word neighbor and this twin word the papers harp so much about, 'community co-operation'?"

"I admitted that I did," "I don't believe you do," he continued, "or at least I didn't know what they meant until my wife told me about this meeting. You see the Methodist Ladies' Aid, the Baptist Ladies' Aid, the Presbyterian Ladies' Aid, the Christian Ladies' Aid and all the other churches live as close together, neighborly speaking, as Chinese. They plan work together, have common interests and visit just like one big church.

"One day in each month the ladies' aid of one of the churches entertains all of the ladies of the other churches—a kind of get-together, elbow-rubbing, talkings-over-and-plan-for-things-they-want-to-do-kind of an affair, you know. But it gets other women interested in church, club and social work and it ties them together in a bond of friendship in a way that you don't want to get away from. Taking it turn about among the churches, you see, wears out the monotony of the thing and makes it the more enjoyable for them."

"How many organizations of such nature are there in the city?" "Well, there is the Baptist Ladies' Aid, with Mrs. W. B. Holland as president, Mrs. O. D. Slaughter as vice president and Mrs. Forest Walters as secretary and treasurer. Then there is the Methodist Ladies' Aid, with Mrs. G. Crain, president; Mrs. S. G. Gilmore, first vice president; Mrs. H. E. Hackney, second vice president; Mrs. W. W. Nunn, recording secretary; Mrs. James F. Cass, corresponding secretary; Miss Annie Culpeper, treasurer; and Mrs. F. A. Cavitt, superintendent of study. Then there is the Ladies' Aid of the Christian church, with Mrs. E. J. Thompson, president; Mrs. J. E. Moore, secretary; Mrs. E. R. Smith, treasurer. And there is the Ladies' Aid and Missionary society of the First Presbyterian church, with Mrs. Walter Ammer as president, Mrs. Joe Cavitt, vice president and Mrs. W. J. Evers, secretary and treasurer."

"Then there is the Eastern Star, with Mrs. Dora Cavitt, worthy matron; Mrs. Joe Cavitt, assistant; Mrs. Grady Hanover, worthy patron; Miss Lena Ammer, secretary; Mrs. Alma Thompson, conductress; Miss Emma Hickerson, associate conductress; and Mrs. Fannie Crain, chaplain. Then again there is the Woodman Circle, with Mrs. J. N. Crain, worthy guardian; Mrs. Fannie Jones, past guardian; Mrs. Susie West, advisor; Mrs. Robert Chapman, Mrs. Christie, clerk, and Miss Nellie Christie, Banker. Then the Daughters of the Confederacy, with Mrs. Albert Stubbfield, president and the Heliconians that I fail to know the officers of, and a lot of other clubs and organizations that I am not familiar with and do not know who their officers are. But you can depend upon it that this is a woman's town, a mother's town, a home-loving town and a good place to settle down, get married in and raise a family. May I ask if you are looking for a place to settle down, want to buy some property, just traveling through, or what?"

"Nor, sir," I made haste to reply, "I have been walking my feet off all day trying to get a story about what the women are doing here. I saw from the way the straws are pointing that they had a part in building what I consider one of the best towns in its size in Texas, but I failed to find the required information. No, sir, as much as I might want to, I don't want to buy anything, but if you are at all acquainted with the line of appreciation that fills a newspaper writer's heart when the right line of dope comes flying by just at the time least expected, you can in a measure imagine how extremely thankful I am for this story."

"And with a promise not to give any names, but with another chapter of evidence in support of the fact that McGregor is a city different, I bade him a kind good-bye. McGregor is all this citizen claims and is a city different."

BRANDEIS' PARTNER EXPLAINS INCIDENTS

By the Associated Press.
Washington, Feb. 29.—An explanation of the various charges against Louis D. Brandeis, now being investigated by a senate committee considering his nomination for the supreme court, was begun today by Edward F. McClellan of Boston, a member of Mr. Brandeis' law firm.

Mr. McClellan took the stand with the testimony of those opposing confirmation of the Brandeis nomination practically all in.

Today Albert E. Pillsbury, former attorney general of Massachusetts and Edward W. Hitchins, vice president of the Boston Bar association, testified that Mr. Brandeis had a reputation for not being straightforward in his dealings.

Austen G. Fox, counsel for the opposition, put in evidence a photographic copy of a check for ten dollars from E. F. McWeeney of Boston to Mr. Brandeis to suggest a charge that Brandeis was paid by policyholders of the Equitable Life Assurance society for representing them in their protective association.

The first thing Mr. McClellan was asked to tell about was the life insurance incident. He said the Brandeis and Edwards were employed by the Equitable in 1901 and had handled thirty or forty cases of it since that time.

The witness stated that Brandeis acted without pay as counsel for the policyholders who had their organization headquarters in his office and that many of the reforms urged by them were adopted by the company.

"How about this McWeeney check?" inquired Federal Attorney Anderson, representing the committee.

"Oh, that has nothing to do with the protective association," was the response. Mr. McClellan consulted Mr. Brandeis about taking the surrender cash value of his policy and Mr. Brandeis charged him ten dollars for his advice.

As to the charge that Mr. Brandeis was employed by the New England railroad, Mr. McClellan said the office diary showed that Mr. Brandeis ceased to have any connection with the litigation against the New England in June, 1903.

The witness began to tell about the United Shoe Machinery matters but was not concluded when the committee adjourned. He said that although Mr. Brandeis was a director of the McKay Shoe Machinery company, which was later merged into the United States Shoe Machinery company in 1909 and signed a circular to the stockholders advising the consolidation, Mr. Brandeis had no connection with the company as to the legality of the consolidation or of the company's leases.

SANGER'S ALL READY FOR FASHION SHOW BEGINNING TODAY

The preliminary for the big fashion show at the Sanger store was staged in the unveiling of the snow windows last night, revealing the prettiest opening scenes in the history of these large show windows. And today corps of department heads and their assistants are busy with the final details of the formal fashion show that is to come tomorrow and Friday. Thousands of dollars worth of additional merchandise is to be unpacked today and while the various departments seem to be overflowing with the new spring goods, still more of the latest styles are to be displayed on the morrow and Friday—and especially on this (today) of the women's and misses' apparel departments and the millinery departments.

Tomorrow morning the first of the five living model performances that are to usher in the new season will take place in the promenade room, another tomorrow afternoon, one in the morning and one in the afternoon. The promenade room, equipped with upwards of a thousand chairs, will have no bearing on the Sanger fashion show, the building being steam-heated and if the cold continues the room will be comfortably warmed and in case it is warm large electric fans are scattered throughout the room and through a specially arranged ventilating system the room will be kept most comfortable at all times.

The walls are finished with handsome scenic decorations and the white way promenade de luxe is covered with a canopy of running roses and butterflies, which forms one of the prettiest settings imaginable for the display of the new gowns, millinery, costumes, dress accessories, etc. All of the living models are new people, having never before appeared at previous events at Sanger's. They come from New York City and are recognized as the best modeling talent procurable. The music for the opening will be furnished by Alessandro's orchestra and there will be other musical features in addition that will greatly add to the attractiveness of the spring festival of fashion.

Miss Eldora Stanford, who has gained an enviable reputation as a soloist both in Texas and the East, will sing in the promenade room at the Sanger store on tomorrow afternoon during the living model presentation of the new styles and fashions. Prof. Joseph Evans of Baylor University will play for Miss Stanford. This added feature to the Thursday afternoon performance in the Sanger promenade room will add materially to the attractiveness of the afternoon's entertainment. Miss Stanford has given several pleasing concert during her recent visit to Waco and Waco people have been highly appreciative of her wonderful talent.

Every nook and corner of the Sanger store is beautifully decorated. Sanger openings unlike most affairs of this kind take into consideration every department of the store. Most stores simply hold their opening events for the ready-to-wear and millinery departments, but the Sanger store includes each and every department. The beautiful effect attained in the garden scenes in the windows is admirably carried out in the interior decorations.

Hundreds of people from the surrounding territory have signified their intention of attending the Sanger formal opening and fashion show and present indications are that there will be large crowds of out-of-town people here on both days. Every preparation possible has been made to make the Sanger store the place where the people and no detail has been overlooked that could in any way add to the pleasure and completeness of the occasion.

It was the only appropriation for new work approved and would be utilized for establishing a thirty-five foot channel to the navy yard.

FEEL BILIOUS? CALOMEL SICKENS! CLEAN LIVER AND BOWELS MY WAY

Don't Lose a Day's Work! If Constipated, Sluggish, Headachy, Take a Spoonful of "Dodson's Liver Tone."

Listen to me! Take no more sickening, salivating calomel when bilious or constipated. Don't lose a day's work!

Calomel is mercury or quicksilver which causes necrosis of the bones. Calomel, when it comes into contact with your bile, causes it to become so thick and sticky that it clogs the bowels of your liver and "all knocked out." If your liver is torpid and bowels constipated or you have headache, dizziness, coated tongue, if breath it bad or stomach sour just take a spoonful of harmless Dodson's Liver Tone.

Here's my guarantee—Go to any drug store and get a 50 cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone. Take a spoonful tonight and if it doesn't straighten you right up and make you feel fine and vigorous by morning I want you to go back to the store and get your money. Dodson's Liver Tone is destroying the sale of calomel because it is real liver medicine; entirely vegetable, therefore it can not sicken or make you sick. I guarantee that one spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone will put your sluggish liver to work and clean your bowels of that sour bile and constipated waste which is clogging your system and making you feel miserable. I guarantee that a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone will keep your entire family feeling fine for months. Give it to your children. It is harmless; doesn't gripe and they like its pleasant taste.

Germans Say French Guns Overwhelmed in Douaumont Fight

Special to the Morning News.
Berlin, via London, Feb. 29.—The correspondents of the Berlin newspapers who were permitted on Sunday to visit the ground gained by the Germans in the Verdun conflict describe the effect on the German artillery fire on the village of Haumont as having left a unique picture of fantastic destruction. The name was true of the town of Brabant.

The correspondents assert that the French field artillery was so overwhelmed by the German guns that it was frequently unable to make itself heard. The French long range guns were doing their best to keep Fort Douaumont smothered in a rain of shells after five attempts by the French to recapture it had failed. The fires that had broken out a few days previously had all been extinguished except a big blaze in the western end of the town. Villages between Fort Douaumont and Verdun were burning fiercely. The weather was changeable, there being a mixture of sunshine and snow.

The Tagliche Rundschau's correspondent declares that the weakness of the artillery fire from the Verdun forts was astonishing.

Texas Co. Now Has Capital Stock of $44,400,000

By the Associated Press.
Houston, Texas, Feb. 29.—This morning the capitalization of the Texas company was $37,500,000.

By noon today it had jumped to $44,400,000.

The increase in capitalization was officially ratified at a meeting of the stockholders of the company at the offices here today which was largely attended by stockholders from all over Texas and a number of the directors of the company from New York.

The meeting was presided over by E. C. Lufkin, president of the company, who announced the action of the board of directors of the company at New York City some time ago when it was decided to lay the proposition providing for the $7,000,000 increased capital stock of the company of the stockholders.

President Lufkin in explaining the increase stated that while the directors had no particular development project in mind at the present time, they felt that the increase was necessary for the conduct of the rapidly growing business of the company. At the time the increase was voted by the stockholders here Texas company stock was selling at the New York stock exchange at 200. It closed Monday afternoon at 197.

Show Windows of Waco Merchants Show Newest Styles in Every Line

Fashion's latest decrees in all lines of human need were revealed to appreciative thousands last night, when at a signal curtains which had draped the show windows of downtown shops were dropped away, revealing the signal given by the firing of the time-honored cannon which had been moved from its resting place on the city hall square to Eighth and Austin streets.

A brief review of the windows is given below:

SANGER BROTHERS.

The onyx columns and white latticed gates of a formal garden form the background of the principal Austin avenue window of Sanger Bros., in which is displayed an admirably chosen and thoroughly unified representation of the best of the season's newest styles in everything which Milady wears. The simple beauty of the garden columns and gates is enhanced by a beautiful trellis of roses, which is draped with artistic freedom. Several models are attired in gowns which caused gasps of admiration from every feminine passerby last night, and which brought forth something more than grunts from the men.

True to the Sanger idea of thoroughness, every accessory to woman's dress is shown in perfect form, the whole display forming a fastidious criterion of the taste of the thousands who viewed the wonderful Sanger windows last night. Different sections of the magnificent window display the styles for afternoon, street and evening, a number of beautiful dancing frocks being especially marked by the favor of the critical.

The Sanger windows all tell the story of what may be expected inside. For the last several days the great store has been in the hands of the large corps of decorators and designers, headed by O. K. Payne. The result is that every department of the store participates in the style show, with displays freshened and enhanced by painstaking efforts of artists. The scheme of decorations, with the tiny rosebud dominating, has been extended to the whole store with a wonderfully charming effect.

GOLDSTEIN-MIGEL CO.

With a background closely imitating the marble front of one of America's most famous residences—the famous estate of Dan Murphy's of Los Angeles—Goldstein-Migel's presents an attractive and sprightly scene. The great center window, which has for its front the largest single section of plate glass in the entire Southwest, shows a very elaborate assembly of evening frocks in white, pink and delicate shades of spring. The two large windows at either side are trimmed as fitting companion pieces to a center window which furnishes the keynote to the entire display. The sixteenth street window, artistically garnished with foliage and pink roses, furnish a very complete and well chosen panorama of all the various accessories of spring attire, including pretty displays of infants' and children's wear, leather goods and jewelry novelties, ribbons and neckwear.

The chief subject of comment among the hundreds who admired the beautiful windows of the big store last night was the splendid arrangement and artistic setting of the center window on Austin avenue. The millioned windows with their draperies of rose and white showing through, the pillared doorway and the entrance in front in its wide balustrade and urns of adiantum ferns with the ivy sprays on the marble walls, giving a touch of color in the backgrounds—no wonder the elaborate display of spring garments in the window was shown to the very best advantage.

The dresses which are featured in this window are exclusive models, brought to Waco by Goldstein-Migel company for the express purpose of exhibiting in connection with the style show.

GRAHAM-JARRELL CO.

The grace of Wisteria vine and flower against the somber elegance of massive onyx walls and columns contribute to the impressive effect of the showings of the Graham-Jarrell company, showings which provided representatives of each of the manifold phases of fashion's decree which will be binding upon the woman of 1916. In festoons of trellis and falling naturally from tall urns, the wisteria is found throughout the store from the three large display windows at the front to the farthest corner of the upper floor.

The beauty of the new spring styles is well exhibited in the displays which have been installed in the Graham-Jarrell windows with elaborate care for detail. The central window, most observed on account of its prominent position, is a symphony of colors popular this spring, the whole unified and harmonized by a beautiful white model mounted in the center. In boxes, tall hollocks and the beauty of the onyx, strewn with flowering wisteria vines.

Party and afternoon models are displayed in one of the windows, with materials for the evening models in the same models draped in graceful folds in the background. The right window the goods forming the attraction—and they did.

PATTON'S.

What Milady is to wear this spring is shown in beautiful manner in the Patton windows. Six handsome gowns are displayed, three on each side. A marvelous blue and white, a stunning green and white, an exquisite salmon pink, a gorgeous yellow and white, a startling but beautiful red and an elegant pearl gray comprise the list.

Boxes of flowers add to the beauty of the windows and the hats and bonnets from Mrs. Pickins, ladies' hatter, used in connection with the Patton display, give the finishing touch to the spring effect.

A glance inside the handsome store shows that the springtime idea is carried out and a profusion of delicate gowns, suits and other articles of feminine wearing apparel are found, just ready to be taken home by some purchaser.

MILLER-CROSS CO.

"Style all the while" in shoes was shown in two window displays at the Miller-Cross shoe company. Fourth and Austin streets. A most complete line of footwear for men occupied one of the show windows, showing the various latest models of the leading lines. In the other window is presented varieties of spring styles in shoes for women, featuring the late boots and pumps.

Two of the popular brands and well known for their high quality that are included in the display are the famous Wicher and Queen Quality. They form a large part of this ladies' spring footwear display. The shoes are especially decorated and present the very latest in this line of goods. In the store other celebrated brands are on exhibit with special arrangements having been made to care for the Style Show crowds.

WALK-OVER SHOE CO.

Shoes that are tan, shoes that are black, laced and buttoned, shoes that are combination colors of black and white and combinations of every other color that is worn by man, woman or child, are displayed by the Walk-Over shoe store. The store caters to the well dressed man or woman and to the man of moderate means and has shoes for all.

With all the shoes in the windows the space is not crowded, for the display of Walk-Overs and each line is in a position to be seen to the best advantage by the onlooker. The company carries the latest styles of shoes for Milady, with the extra high style so much in vogue at the present, the newest in low quarters and pumps and in any other line of shoes that can be thought of are there.

The shoes are made up even more attractive and appealing by the window decorations, which consist of flowers at needed intervals, offset with greenery touches and palms, together with the display arrangement of the graduated shelves, which forms a tasteful and neat arrangement.

McRAE-GRIMLAND CO.

Ladies' boots in white, in black, in combination black and white, fawn, tan and men's shoes, both low and high cut, in all the newest and latest models, are displayed in the window of the McRae-Grimland company on Austin. The new spring styles have arrived and show the color and odd styles predominating, both in the button and lace. The variety on display is large and the hardest to please will be delighted with the many new designs and styles offered by the shoe dealers this season.

SEGALL UPSTAIRS SHOE STORE.

New spring and summer styles in footwear for gentlemen and milady of '16 are presented to the public in the window at the Segall Upstairs Shoe store and also inside the shoe parlors, all on sale at popular prices bearing the label of reputable firms. Longer vamp shoes that will be worn to a great extent are featured in the display and also in the ladies' section is featured a large number of styles in dull kid and bronze which will also be very popular.

It is an artistic display of footwear in every respect and is complete in form and line, including the latest styles and the latest colors. The goods on display are a variety of styles, in the latest colors, in the latest weaves, in the latest for the spring and for the summer wear.

MILLINERY EMPORIUM.

With the added completeness of display furnished by the close association with Snaman & Co., thus being able to show fashions in hats in combination with the latest fashions in gowns and suits, the display of the Millinery Emporium, 509 Austin avenue, was especially marked for the attention it attracted from the thousands who viewed the displays on opening night of the Spring Style Show last night.

Charming designs in all the models and materials and colors sanctioned by 1916's greatest authorities were presented for the approval of feminine Waco. To the indorsement of the fashion arbiters pronounced weeks before in New York, was added last night the unqualified approval of milady of Waco.

SNAMAN'S.

White serge suits, beautifully hand embroidered, in one window, against a background of light blue designs, handwork, in another window offset each other for beauty of design and attractiveness in the eyes of the visitors at Snaman's, the Misses' and Women's Outfitters on Austin. The models were surrounded with a background that brought out all the best effects of each, yet the background itself was perfect.

One of the things which added to the attractiveness of the display was the absence of a too crowded effect, noticeable usually on a style show occasion. The windows were decorated only with a touch of roses and a touch of greenery here and there, together with the green carpet of the floor space, leaving the attraction to the crowds viewing the display the handsome gowns and suits.

The white serges were as beautiful and attractive as a white serge could be, some decorated with light blue designs of embroidery and another with a white silk braid bringing out the cleverness of design and the material. The gowns more elaborate in decoration, having the handsome designs of models, were surrounded with a background that brought out all the best effects of each, yet the background itself was perfect.

Another model attracting the eye and holding the attention of the visitor was the combination of lace and old rose, the lace in scalloped and ruffled effects. The interior of the store held the crowds for long periods, viewing the complete display of gowns and suits, dresses and coats in the long cases which seemed to contain as many different designs and styles as could be desired. The interior like the windows, was arranged with the idea of evening and after dinner wear, according to Mrs. McDonald, roses and the new glaze foliage will predominate, though the black foliage will be used again.

You'll prefer this Camel blend flavor to either kind of tobacco smoked straight. And the quality is so apparent men do not look for or expect coupons or premiums!

The Bazaar is the oldest exclusive millinery shop of the city, having been in this line for over thirty years.

JOE MATTHEWS.

Joe Matthews' Men's Furnishing and Tailoring store at 502 Austin street, has been arranged to be in harmony with the style show. Two neatly arranged windows are on display. One shows shirts and neckwear for gentlemen. In the other is shown what will be worn by gentlemen in the way of suits. In the latter display is included a number of plaids and greys which will be worn a great deal this spring and summer. Late arrivals in tailoring models, including a large number of patterns of numerous descriptions and other furnishings for men are exhibited in the interior of the store.

W. J. HILL.

"Clothes that win respect from men who wear them" are on display profusely and artistically, both within and without the store of W. J. Hill on Austin. And from the display and close inspection of the lines of furnishings the store is bearing out the motto of the company. On display are shirts of the latest shades of color combination, silk and other neckwear, hats, suits, neckwear—and everything for the man to wear—and they are arranged attractively and to good advantage.

Suits, tailored and manufactured, form one of the biggest of the many departments of the store. These suits and goods are shown in the latest designs and styles and the latest colors.

The goods on display are a variety of styles, in the latest colors, in the latest weaves, in the latest for the spring and for the summer wear. Hats are also featured by the firm. Hats tropical, the hat exclusive of Hill's, the hat for every man who takes pains with his appearance. The light shades will predominate on account of the difficulty of securing dyes, but give a pleasing effect with the light colored suits which will be worn.

WOOD BROTHERS.

Exquisite in colors and materials is the splendid study in shirts, found in one of Wood Brothers' big windows. The shirts predominate this year, with silk and linen, crepe and madras, as materials, and the very latest and most beautiful styles for the spring time are shown by this popular establishment.

In the opposite windows are suits that would almost tempt any lover of fine clothes to—well, do most anything for the summer wear.

MRS. PICKINS, LADIES' HATTER.

One of the features of Patton's windows is the display of hats and bonnets from the parlors of Mrs. Pickins, ladies' hatter. Each of the windows is filled with several on pedestals. But the crowning features are an exquisite Hixson white straw hat, shown in the box, trimmed with two small white bird wings and another flower garden bonnet, also in a beautiful box.

Upstairs, Mrs. Pickins has a wonderful showing of spring hats and bonnets. One thing she prizes highly is a gorgeous bird of paradise, which has every particular of its feathers and its liver was inactive and he was in pain after eating.

He took Mayr's Wonderful Remedy. From the very first dose it brought swift results. He wrote:

"I have taken your treatment for stomach trouble and consider it a Godsend to suffering humanity. I have been suffering from stomach troubles for a long time, such as colic attacks, bloating after eating, sick spells, indigestion, constipation and inactive liver and gall stones. Now I do not feel like the same man. I can cheerfully commend this remedy to all stomach sufferers."

Mayr's Wonderful Remedy gives permanent results for stomach, liver and intestinal ailments. Eat as much and whatever you like. No more distress after eating, pressure of gas in the stomach and around the heart. Get one bottle of your drugist now and try it on an absolute guarantee. within reason to get them. Dame Fashion has been good to the men this year. The colors decreed are pleasing to the eyes and the cut, just the thing to set off masculine symmetry.

Just each side the entrances are showing of suits and hats for boys, and the youngsters will be dreams this year, if their fond parents follow fashion's dictates. They are almost indescribable. One has to see them to appreciate them.

The big gold lion, Wood Brothers' own sign, rules almost alone in the big show case out in front. A bunch of carnations in a tall wicker basket, and two handsome gray hats, alone dispute his possession.

Rolls of stunning velvet draperies at intervals give the touch of color needed and here and there among the larger articles, marvelously hued cravats and handsome gloves, with a few walking sticks, are just enough to make the display complete in every particular.

The spring also reigns triumphant inside the big store. Wood Brothers is sure to prove a popular place for the masculine gender during the remainder of the Style Show, but then, that is only the usual thing and nothing uncommon.

ROBERTS, THE HATTER.

Hats out of season and in style are being shown by Roberts, the Hatter, 707 Austin. Hats, straw hats, Panama hats, soft straw hats, sailor straw hats, straw hats of colored under-brim style, split straws, Sennits, Man, Hancock, Leghorn, Porto Rican, Italian straws—of all kinds and styles—are being shown by the firm.

Straw hats are not the only kinds on display, for in another window are felts, soft and derby, dressy hats for men, hats for every one. Caps, too, form a part of the showing.

Hats this year will be shown in a variety of colors, according to Mr. Roberts, with the lighter greys and tans predominating. For the spring the green shades will be in good taste, tending toward the lighter shades. The straws will be popular, sailors forming the dress hat of summer; Panamas will be very popular. Caps will follow the style of last year, the close-fitting tending toward the full blouse crown, long visors with medium shapes and tending toward the golf style will be popular among the cap wearers.

The tailoring department of the company is receiving a good deal of attention by the managers, carrying the famous Kahn Bros. line, one of the most popular and well-known brands on the market. They have on display the latest styles and weaves of cloths suitable for all times and all periods of the seasons.

R. T. DENNIS & CO.

Devoting their energies and resources to one object, the handsome show windows of R. T. Dennis & Co. presented a rare beautiful array of furniture in period designs when they were revealed to style show crowds last night. The showing for the style show was confined to old ivory, white ivory, ivory wicker and art reeds, many specimens in each being shown. Several bedroom sets in period, Adam and Louis XVI, made the showing one of rare unity.

The wonderful skill of the decorators displayed in arranging the various groups with harmony of light, hangings and tapestries, brought forth admiration from the thousands who passed on Austin avenue last night.

HOUSEHOLD FURNITURE CO.

Strictly American designs are featured by the Household Furniture company and their handsome show windows on North Sixth street presented to style show crowds an admirable arrangement of a number of handsome suites of this type. Complete furnishings for a four-room house, properly arranged, faced the long wall of plate glass, displaying the proper combinations of furniture for a complete home. One bed room set of period furniture, of Adam design, in old ivory, was shown, as were several specimens of bird's-eye maple.

The greater part of the spring stocks recently purchased by the Household Furniture company has not arrived, according to the statement of Manager Witt yesterday. All of the stock is expected in within the next few days, when some of the latest designs will be arranged for display.

WACO TRUNK FACTORY.

Bringing out the patriotism of every onlooker, the likeness of the president of the United States, with the national colors streaming to the four corners of the window space, was one of the features of the showing made by the Waco Trunk factory. "Makers of the Baggage That Travels." Under the picture of the president were the words, "He Uses Hartman Wardrobe Trunks; Why Don't You?" which Hartman wardrobe trunk is handled by the firm.

Several of these trunks are in the window to impress the passerby with their quality and convenience. Other articles forming the display are suit cases with every contrivance for the traveler to prevent the trouble of the traveling, including complete toilet sets, brushes and other emergency articles.

Handbags are there equipped similar to the suit cases, some of them having cushions in the separate corners, to prevent the trouble of the traveling or other articles to be carried. Within the store are other articles for the traveler, bearing out the motto of the company, which provides for a traveler's needs, most of which are of the green gold, now in use so much.

ADAMS & ALLCORN.

Information was furnished the sightseers that the Chickering was the principal piano handled by the house and that on the inside of the big store were other grands as well as Chickering uprights.

The other side of the window contained a miscellany of musical articles, everything from the violin, violoncello and cornet to the French harp and jewsharp. On the walls were numbers of the latest songs and music with music rolls for the players and other articles appealing to the musician and singer.

The interior of the store contains the unusual quantity of musical accessories beloved by every student of god Pan.

GROCERY SO DIFFERENT.

When the show windows at the Grocery So Different were unveiled a sanitary exhibition of fancy groceries and meats were shown. This included home-made pies and cakes, delicatessen products, dressed poultry including turkeys, chickens, squabs, etc., fruits and vegetables. In the market display was shown the latest cuts of extra fine prize beef, pork, lamb, fish of all varieties, oysters, sausages and in fact everything that could be found in the latest market of today. An electrical display of green lights in harmony with the spirit of spring added to the display.

Throughout the store the display is carried out showing the twenty-five varieties of cheese the store carries, fruits and vegetables, olives, syrups, French peas ready flavored and other articles always in stock at this unique store. One of the points of the entire exhibit that stood out more prominently than all the rest was the cleanliness in which every article is displayed. Sanitation and quality predominates throughout the entire building.

ARMSTRONG & PFAEFFLE.

Style in jewelry was not neglected in the many displays as would be seen by a glimpse of the windows at Armstrong and Pfaeffle, jewelers, 603 Austin. The show windows and the show cases were rearranged in order to present some very late goods which have been here only a short while. Every accessory to sterling silver, including a beautiful water set, bread and butter sets and Columbia patterns in silver, is in one of the windows and in the other is seen a number of diamonds, lavallieres, brooches, wrist watches, most of which are of the green gold, now in use so much.

MRS. J. R. McNULTY WELCOMES MISS IRMA GRACE

Of recent note is the return of Miss Irma Grace from Kansas City to make her home here. In welcome, Mrs. J. R. McNulty of Thirteenth street assembled matinee guests for a pretty little party.

Particularly noticeable were the many carnations, pink and white, about the rooms; later, a single stem carnation favor appeared on each plate. The honoree favor continued the pink and white into a corsage of sweet pea blossoms. Guests were, the Mesdames W. B. Ragland, Edward Smith, A. C. Dever, R. A. Wilson, W. E. Seifer, T. M. Hays, R. S. Vaughn, M. C. Henderson, W. Neathery, Charles Dutton, F. M. Thwing.

MRS. W. O. VAN WYCK HAS HER BRIDGE CLUB

The opening game of bridge for the week found Mrs. W. O. Van Wyck out on West Columbus entertaining her club, the Monday bridge. Also, Mrs. Van Wyck introduced her mother, Mrs. S. C. Moore, from Sherman, who is her guest for two weeks. In addition to the high score favor, provision had been made for a spring growing plant in bloom to ornament each table while the luncheon was enjoyed. Cutting for these, they fell to Mrs. W. A. Little and Mrs. L. C. Alexander. High score favor went to Mrs. William Edmond. Mrs. Carl Lovelace, the club president, entertains next Monday. Playing hands for absent members with Mrs. Van Wyck were the Mesdames Moore and L. M. Wells.

CIVIC SERVICE OF AN INDUSTRIAL CONCERN.

Along with the majority of other papers of this country the Morning News has had its fling at Henry Ford's foolish peace expedition, and we have made adverse comment upon his disposition to ignore his duty as a citizen by refusing to vote in the important elections that come frequently in this country, but in the provisions of Mr. Ford for the development of the foreign-born citizens in his employ along the lines of good citizenship he is rendering a large service and we could only wish that other large industrial concerns might imitate his example more freely.

Dispatches from Detroit announce that 512 men have just completed the eight months' course in the English language and good citizenship offered by the Ford Motor company to all of its foreign-born employees, and have received diplomas certifying that the holders thereof can read, write and speak the English language and are entitled to first naturalization papers without further examination.

At a pageant in a Detroit armory the other day these 512 aliens, in old world costume, representing thirty-three nations, filed out of the stateroom of an ocean liner into an enormous "melting pot." Later they emerged from the "melting pot" wearing American clothes and carrying American flags.

Of course there was a commercial consideration or motive in the school in the Americanization of these foreign-born citizens, for their ability to read, write and speak the English language makes them much more valuable to their employer, while their acquaintance with the fundamental principles of American citizenship gives them a greater sense of loyalty to this country and everything pertaining to it, including their work and their employer. This instruction in the broader lessons of citizenship makes them more intelligent and less susceptible to the leadership of designing politicians and trouble makers who might be prone to use them to their personal advantage, and inures to the benefit of the workmen in every way.

Mr. Ford is doing a very valuable service for his men in this school of instruction, where 2,200 more students are now enrolled, and if his example were more generally followed in the industrial centers there would be more efficient work on the part of the men, less dissatisfaction among them, and better results in every way.

Rev. Jenkin Lloyd Jones, pastor of a Chicago church and member of the Ford peace party to Europe, has returned from abroad with the announcement that the trip was a success, but that the newspapermen spoiled it. But the chances are if the newspaper men had not been along, he would have attributed its failure to the lack of publicity, so there you are. But the shoulders of a newspaper man are very broad and able to bear up any burden that may be placed there.

The style show in all its beauty, excellence and glory, is on and Waco extends to her neighbors and friends everywhere a cordial invitation to come in and see the beautiful creations that have been devised to please the human eye and appeal to the intellectual and aesthetic senses, as well.

Dr. Block put in a little overtime seeing that his order for tip-top style show weather got into headquarters and from the sample we had yesterday it appears that it was time well spent.

CONSTRUCTIVE WORK FOR PRISONERS.

Full of interest to students of social welfare was the dispatch from Ossining, N. Y., yesterday, to the effect that those inmates of Sing Sing prison who are members of the Mutual Welfare league were studying the Spanish language and conditions in South America, preparatory to taking up some line of business in that country after they come out of prison in the hope of getting as far away as possible from the environment that led them into their criminal careers. Persons interested in prison reform have furnished the teachers and the books on South America, by means of which the men are acquainting themselves with that country.

This is one of the most encouraging steps that we have noted in the progress of prison reform. The average prisoner in the penitentiary who gets no additional schooling by which he becomes a more intelligent citizen, who receives no instruction along a particular trade, who receives no stimulus to his ambition, no promptings of any kind to become a better and more efficient citizen, receives no benefit from his confinement there and when his term is over and he goes back out into the world he generally does so with a very bitter attitude toward society and frequently becomes a repeater.

If he learns a trade in the penitentiary, however, he will in all probability be in a position to take up life in some other locality under more favorable economic circumstances than before he entered prison, and will have the benefit of whatever encouragement there comes in freedom from the unfavorable environment that possibly was a factor in leading him to transgress the law originally.

The schools for juvenile offenders are coming to employ professional training extensively and increased efficiency which it is bringing to the boys committed to them is very helpful, though we need in Texas, as in the other states, a state juvenile officer who will become acquainted with the boys before they leave the training school, know their dispositions and the surroundings from which they came to the school, and be in a position to place them advantageously in some other locality if the conditions in their home community are unfavorable to their proper development, as is so frequently the case.

It is unnecessary that the men and boys shall take any less time from actual work for the state than they are doing at present for them to receive the instruction along the lines indicated. The program calls only for the employment of the idle hours they spend brooding in their cells at night in wholesome study instead. Interested citizens will furnish the necessary teachers and books if the state does not feel able to perform this very useful service.

FARMING FOR PROFIT.

The $10,000 prize offer of the Texas Industrial congress for the best field crops, best livestock, and best gardens during 1916, not only provides opportunity and encouragement to learn and use the best possible methods of production, but it also emphasizes a phase of work that is overlooked by probably ninety-nine out of every hundred of our rural population, the question of net profit. The best field crop, meat animal, or garden is not that which makes the largest gross yield, but the one that yields its producer the largest amount of clear money after the cost of producing it has been deducted. In stating the conditions of its prize offer, the congress says:

"The cost of production of the crop is as important as the yield and will be considered in determining successful contestants. This rule applies also to the cost of feeding the livestock classes."

"The rent of the land, cost of breaking the ground, preparing the seed bed, seed, planting, fertilizers, cultivation, gathering and weighing, feeding and every other item of expense must be reported."

"A careful record by hours must be kept of the amount of labor of every person and of every animal used in making the prize crops."

"A daily record must also be kept of the kind and quantity of feed and of every other item of expense incurred in the livestock classes."

Requiring contestants to keep books on their work gives them an understanding of the meaning of the net profit and enables them to visualize in a concrete way the fact that the purpose of growing crops and livestock is not just to live, but to make clear money; and making clear money, and understanding that fact is an argument for doing these things, that is more powerful, and will have more effect in preventing the flight of the farm boys and girls to the city than any other that may be made. Those interested should write to the congress at Dallas for its prize offer and application blanks to enter the contests, and we hope McLennan county will be more largely represented than ever before.

THE MENACE OF A RAILROAD STRIKE.

A very clear and impartial consideration of the suffering that a railroad strike of the proportions that has been threatened for some weeks would entail upon this country is afforded in the following expression from the Financial World:

"Before the point is reached where it looks as though a walkout of railroad men is certain, every effort should be made by the entire country to bring about a peaceable settlement. A general railroad strike would prove a national calamity, from the blighting effects of which not a single industry or individual would be exempt."

"In no walk of life does labor find more general employment than in the railroad field. Just how true and significant is this bare statement, is brought forth by some of the statistics furnished by the bureau of railway economics. A study of these cold figures would soon conjure up in the mind of the reader a mental Frankenstein, should it happen that railroad commerce were thrown out of its present peaceful ebb and flow."

"According to the bureau, during the fiscal year ending June, 1915, the railroads directly employed 1,260,601 men; including the smaller roads it is safe to estimate this considerable army of men would be increased to 1,500,000. These are men of family mostly. If they should strike and firemen, conductors and engineers all went out it would affect their families, or a total of more than 5,000,000 human beings."

"There, however, is only the smaller part of the injury which would spring from a strike. With not a wheel turning to carry raw products to manufacturers, transport foodstuffs and the staples of the farms to the city markets and finished products from the mills, industrial paralysis would stalk through the land. Without railroad facilities we might as well shut up shop. But how could we do so without bringing the greatest suffering upon the dependent population?"

"It is an appalling picture, but it mirrors what eventualities may have to be faced, and if it has to be met, not only will the people hold railroad men responsible, but all concerned in the business of running the railroads, for the great and widespread misery which will ensue."

"Because of the seriousness of the situation and because of the realization by railroad men of the cost they must pay, we feel there will be no strike, but there must come an amicable settlement through arbitration, after the preliminary skirmishes and arguments have fixed the common ground upon which the railroads and their employees may meet."

Since Germany announces her policy of sinking armed enemy merchantmen will go into effect this morning, we need fear no shortage in interesting news from across the Atlantic. If you are not already a subscriber to the Morning News subscribe today and be prepared to keep up with the world's events.

German-American editors, in session at Chicago, declared they did not want a pro-German president nor a pro-British president, but a pro-American president. That's the right talk, all right, and we have an idea all who entertain that idea will vote for the re-election of Woodrow Wilson.

The United States appears to have worked out a very satisfactory protectorate for Haiti, but the latest reports from Mexico are to the effect that that country is not quite ready to come in under a similar arrangement as yet.

In order to assist those Waco girls who were so engrossed with their preparations for the style show that they did not have an opportunity to propose yesterday, we have induced Dame Custom to extend the privilege for another month.

A pastor laments the fact that the art of conversation has been lost, but the Baltimore American reminds him that there has been no diminution in the propensity to gossip.

Charles Reed, Cincinnati barber, died the other day and left a fortune of $500,000 which he accumulated from savings from his salary and tips and making wise investments.

Bishop Quayle says all angels are red-headed. Maybe so, but it does not necessarily follow that all red-headed people are angels, though we hope they will be some day.

The Philadelphia Telegraph makes the observation that it is a whole lot easier to break a dollar than it is to gather up the pieces.

When love can endure a dirty, tobacco-stained mouth without a shudder, it is the real article, comments the Houston Chronicle.

Our sympathy for the blind became all the more acute when we got a glimpse of the style show last night.

Alleged Embezzlers From Dallas Caught in South America

By the Associated Press.
Dallas, Tex., Feb. 29.—C. K. McGown, a former city hall employee, and John Morgan, a bartender, wanted here for alleged embezzlement of city taxes amounting to more than $10,000, were arrested today at Montevideo, Uruguay, South America, according to official advices received by the local police. Morgan is charged with having received part of the stolen money.
The shortage made known early this year passed unnoticed for many months despite close auditing footings in the tax books of the city. Failure to audit the tax books by items was held to be responsible for the shortage being overlooked. Since the announcement of the shortage, the long leaf system of bookkeeping has been abandoned by the office.

Steps are being taken to bring McGown and Morgan home for prosecution.

Valley Mills City Officials Nominated

Special to the Morning News.
Valley Mills, Feb. 29.—In the citizens' mass meeting held in the K. of P. hall in this city last night, J. C. Tubb was re-nominated for mayor without opposition. Ben B. McCollum, cashier of the Citizens' State bank, and W. S. Turner were re-nominated for treasurer and secretary of the city, respectively. M. H. Richards, J. T. M. Sleeper, W. T. Harris, J. V. Shugart and R. L. McElhannon received the nominations for aldermen from the five wards in the order named. The fact that city marshal, Mack Lawhorn defeated W. H. Raley, present incumbent, by a narrow majority, Mr. Raley has been marshaled a number of years. The mass meeting takes the place of the city primary. A fair representation of the town was present. The general election will be held in April.
The Mr. Sleeper nominated for alderman in the second ward came here recently from Austin. He is manager of the Sleeper Milling and Grain company of this place, and a brother of Judge Sleeper of Waco.

Mrs. Harrison Goes Before Grand Jury

By the Associated Press.
Fort Worth, Tex., Feb. 29.—The pretty young bride of two months, Mrs. Charles Harrison, who confessed to slaying W. L. Warren just two days before her wedding and then hiding the secret successfully until last Saturday night when a chum gave her away, went before the grand jury this morning to repeat her confession. Her attorneys will insist on an indictment very likely, even if the body regards her as too young to face such a charge or the slaying as justified.
The unwritten law will be the defense, Mrs. Harrison saying in her confession Warren wronged her when she was only fourteen years old and more than a year before her marriage. She is only fifteen now.

Fire Rate Changes Would Save Money on Storing Cotton

By the Associated Press.
Austin, Tex., Feb. 29.—According to Dabney S. White of Tyler, prominent in state ginning circles, if the reduction proposed by the state fire insurance commission on fire insurance for small warehouses in the state is made the country gins will erect warehouses and store the cotton at about fifty cents per bale per annum as against the present charge of approximately $2 at this time. Objection is being made to the proposed reduction by cotton compress men and warehouse men at large concerning points. The matter will be determined at Houston on March 9.

The university authorities have made a rule not to allow political supporters of this rule. The former secretary of state is not expected to transgress it. Friends of Mr. Bryan express the opinion that while he possibly will speak upon preparedness for war he will refrain from criticism of the president's position.

"It is a common remark," says the Chicago Journal, "that the anti-saloon sentiment makes no progress in cities—but is this true? There are large sections in Chicago where the sale of liquor is forbidden, and these arid regions are growing."

The face value of a saloon license in Chicago is $1000. Because of an ordinance limiting the number to be issued, licenses assumed for many years an inflated value, some selling as high as $2,000. This bonus has dropped to $100. The total slump in premiums will, it is stated, aggregate $18,000,000. Alarmed at this growth of dry sentiment throughout the city, saloons, "hotels" and "restaurants" are being advertised for sale under the head of "Business Chances." The proprietors are making desperate efforts to unload upon unsuspecting purchasers.

and the Amicable presented twenty-two stories of illumination, a brilliant spectacle which was viewed from many parts of the city. Searchlights were also on top of several buildings, which were thrown upon the parade as it passed. The initial day's program on the style show calendar was pronounced to be a brilliant, overwhelming success—the results of arduous work and weeks of careful preparations and planning by committees representing the Young Men's Business League, the organization which promoted the style show and which has arranged for the other features of today's tomorrow's and Friday's entertainment. Another successful triumph is added to the list already gained by this aggressive and progressive commercial organization, of which the city of Waco is proud.

G. M. Model Show Features Opening. Immediately after the parade a crowd of several thousand people gathered at the Goldstein-Migel corner where an open-air promenade was given by living models showing the late spring styles from inexpensive frocks to elaborate evening gowns costing several hundred dollars, all of which were taken from the actual stock of this firm. The promenade was arranged on the awning of the store and the chains that supported the awning were decorated with smilax and along the edge were pot plants and from beneath hung baskets of trailing spengeli. Spotlights on the roof of the nearby buildings threw light upon the models as they appeared and footlights also were installed at the edge of the awning.

The models entered the promenade from the extreme north end of the awning on Sixth street and moved to the corner where a stage, attractively decorated, had been constructed. Here they turned around, showing their costumes, moved down the awning on Austin avenue, turned and returned to where they started from. In this method practically all the time free to five models were appearing before the spectators. Ten attractive young women displayed the styles. The show lasted for more than an hour. This is the second time Goldstein-Migel company has entertained the style show crowds with this feature and it is said to have the distinction of being the only night, open-air promenade of this kind in the world. Due to this fact, it has been widely commented on.

Preparations Were Elaborate. Few were the merchants of the city who failed to make some preparations to welcome Miss Style Show when she appeared upon the scene last night. Many went to extra expense and left no detail untouched in order that they might do their share in promoting the commercial and social events which are expected to stimulate an era of prosperity for this city. When the curtains dropped simultaneously in many of the windows appeared gorgeous displays of styles up-to-the-minute and the latest lines of mer-spring styles in women's wear. Special electrical effects have been installed for this feature, and Leon M. Block, organizer at the theatre, is preparing some special musical numbers. This is a distinct departure from anything previously attempted by a motion picture show, but bids fair to be a big success. Capt. Charles W. Andrews, famous balloonist of Detroit, arrived here last night from Fort Worth, where he has been for the last few months, to give two ascensions here today. His ascensions will be given at 2:30 this afternoon instead of 3:30 as was previously announced, and at 7:30 o'clock tonight, both from the corner of Fifth and Franklin streets. During the Cotton Palace of 1913 Captain Andrews made five successful flights here, going approximately 7000 feet in the air, and he promises to reach this height today, weather conditions permitting. Captain Andrews is slightly crippled, resulting from a fall from a balloon at Tehama, Tenn., in August, 1909.

Fashion Day Tomorrow. Tomorrow is "Fashion Day and Automobile Day" of the style show. At 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon a big parade will be given. Sections of the parade will show the evolution of transportation from the early Indian times to the present date and the evolution of style from the early days to 1916. In the parade will be a number of late model automobiles entered by local automobile concerns who have made special arrangements for the show.

Friday, the closing day of the style show, has been set aside as "Everybody's Day." Demonstrations are being arranged at the various downtown establishments and visitors will be received during the day. Several exhibitions will be made of Made-in-Waco products. A band concert will be given in the Coliseum at the Cotton Palace from 8 to 9 o'clock Friday night and the climax of the style show, the closing feature, will follow—a grand ball in the Coliseum, to which everybody is invited. No charge is to be made for the ball, either for entrance to the coliseum or to dance. Boxes will be occupied by directors of the Young Men's Business League, patronesses of the style show, and others prominently connected with the show.

B. Fluke Wright, a member of the general committee in charge of the show, is making preparations for the show, as is J. W. Carlin, the chairman, who spent the entire day yesterday in the interest of the show.

Last Honors Paid to Captain Green

Capt. Charles W. Green was buried yesterday afternoon in Oakwood cemetery, the service taking place from the residence of his son, C. H. Green, 1115 Columbus street. Rev. W. P. Wirtzell officiating. Death was due to pneumonia.

With the passing of Captain Green, America loses one of her most peculiarly historic citizens, he having been a member of the Army of Virginia, which was later incorporated in the Confederate army. He was enlisted in the new army as a sergeant of Alexandria Riflemen and was later elected lieutenant of the same company and was later commissioned as captain. He took part in the first battle of Bull Run and in most of the important engagements of the Virginia army, having been paroled after the battle of Appomattox during which engagement he was captured. He was one of the guards on detail that accompanied John Brown to the scaffold where Brown was hanged, which took place on December 2, 1859.

Other than his son here, Captain Green is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Leroy Green Burnett of Boston; his wife having died about three years ago. The children have the sincere sympathy of the city and of the whole South in the loss of their parent.

Fires Work Damage in Two Waco Homes

Mrs. A. H. Prescott, Thirteenth and Austin, and Paul Maaz, 825 Dutton, were the victims of fires last night, the former occurring about 7:50 while Mrs. Prescott was at the style show. An explosion was heard by the neighbors, and it is presumed that a stove in the residence exploded. The home was partly covered by insurance. The second fire came at 9:30, partially destroying the residence of Mr. Maaz, who was scorched and his hair slightly burned while leaving the building. Partial insurance on the house and furniture.

SAVE YOUR HAIR! 25 CENT BOTTLE STOPS DANDRUFF

EVERY BIT OF DANDRUFF DISAPPEARS AND HAIR STOPS COMING OUT.

TRY THIS! YOUR HAIR APPEARS GLOSSY, ABUNDANT, WAVY AND BEAUTIFUL.

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scourge. There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair. Get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and after the first application your hair will take on that life, lustre and luxuriance which is so beautiful. It will become wavy and fluffy and have the appearance of abundance, an incomparable gloss and softness; but what will please you most will be after just a few weeks' use, when you will actually see a lot of fine, downy hair—new hair—growing all over the scalp. Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

Value of Home and School Gardening, and other interesting numbers also appear on the program. All mothers are invited to attend.

Migratory Bird Law Still in Effect

Special to the Morning News.

Washington, Feb. 29.—A misleading statement has recently become current in newspapers of the Mississippi Valley and elsewhere to the effect that the department of agriculture has suspended the enforcement of the federal regulations under the migratory bird law and by this means has enabled sportsmen, under the state laws, to shoot wild fowl the coming spring.

Under the federal regulations as they now stand, the season on all migratory wild fowl is closed until next autumn throughout the United States. Federal inspectors and wardens are required and others interested in the protection of wild fowl are requested to report to the department of agriculture all cases of violations of the regulations, in order that proper action may be taken.

The department of agriculture has no power to suspend the law or to pardon violations of the regulations. Doubtless the erroneous impression, on which the newspaper statements are based, has grown out of the pendency of litigation involving the constitutionality of the act of congress approved March 4, 1912, under which the regulations were promulgated. The lower federal courts disagreed as to the validity of the statute and the issue was carried to the supreme court of the United States. The case was argued in the supreme court in October, 1915, but has not been decided.

Following the lower court decisions, congress appropriated money for the purpose of continuing the enforcement of the law. The department of agriculture is bound to report to the department of justice violations of the regulations if the supreme court should declare the law constitutional. All persons should, therefore, be warned of the danger they incur from failure to abide by the regulations.

MAJESTIES

HIPPODROME.

"Peggy."

"Peggy," the long-awaited Ince production in which Billie Burke, the popular stage favorite, makes her picture debut as a Triangle star, is released at last and will show at the Hippodrome today. The play, which consists of seven reels, was something over three months being finished. But five weeks of that time was spent in making actual pictures, the rest of the time being spent in clipping and illustrating the leaders. This last feature is becoming a regular part of the Ince pictures and adds materially to the beauty of them. From a musical standpoint as well as any other, the film merits particular attention. Ince's young musical genius, Victor L. Schertzinger, composed the original incidental score which is a never-ending variety of original Scotch melodies. The motif of the piece is "Peggy," and in this connection an interesting fact comes to light, which is that this constitutes the first time a song has ever been written and published as an adaptation from the incidental music of a photoplay.

Another thing that proves a tremendously powerful factor in the success of the Ince-Burke picture is the excellence of the cast that appears in the support of the star. One of the chief of these is William H. Thompson, dean of the American stage, who has repeatedly before this turned down all offers from the screen; he has the part of Andrew Desmond, for some time idol of the speaking stage but now permanently affiliated with the Ince studios. Others are Charles Ray, the Ince "wonder boy," Gertrude Claire, Truly Shattuck, Norma Thomas, and Joseph J. Dowling. Peggy is first seen as a member of an exclusive New York set, an orphan and an heiress, but later goes to the home of her uncle and guardian in a little Scotch village and figures in many whirlwind incidents and a pretty romance. "Peggy," with Billie Burke, will play at the Hippodrome today only.

"The Birth of a Nation."

The romance of the "little Confederate Colonel," Ben Cameron, with the northern girl, Elsie Stoneman, and that of the Unionist captain, Phil Stoneman, with Margaret Cameron, the South Carolina lassie, maintain two threads of continuous love interest throughout "The Birth of a Nation," which returns to the Auditorium tonight for three performances. Never in the most terrific scenes of the spectacle, is the romance, based upon Thomas Dixon's "The Clansman," quite forgotten. In the battle of Petersburg, for example, the "little colonel" leads a thrilling charge against the command of his old school friend, Captain Stoneman. One of the brothers of Margaret Cameron falls a victim to war in Sherman's storming of Atlanta. Elsie Stoneman and her brother, Phil, are present in Ford's theatre the night of the assassination of Lincoln. It is to save the honor of his sweetheart, Elsie Stoneman, that the "little colonel" leads the Ku Klux Klanmen in the most sensational ride ever staged.

The spectacle is in two parts. The first half exhibits the salient events of the civil war, which came to a close at Appomattox fifty years ago. Lincoln's fall for troops, Sherman's march, the battle of Petersburg, Lee's surrender to Grant, and the awful tragedy in Ford's theatre, live before the eyes of the spectator as vividly as did the actual events in the era depicted.

In the second half is shown the second uprising of the south, this time against the carpathian regime. Horrors worse than those of war are enacted, and there springs up the "invisible empire" with its vast border of 400,000 men. The Ayran race is restored to its rights after a secret and terrible combat. It is in this half of the spectacle that Griffith tells for the first time accurately and vividly the true story of the Ku Klux Klan.

Finn Tribe League of Bowlers Formed

A 5 o'clock bowling league, with a schedule that runs to the middle of April has been organized by four teams at the Y. M. C. A. They have called it the Finn "Tribe league" and are naming the teams after fishes of various sorts. Probably fish stories will explain to their wives why they are late to supper. Names for two of the teams could not be ascertained last night, but the captains are J. J. Pettit and W. D. Campbell. Three men comprise the teams. The Catfish, W. A. Loving, captain, beat the Bluegills, H. A. Bruyere, captain, two out of three games in the initial contest yesterday. The scores:

"The Birth of a Nation"

By REV. DR. CHARLES H. PARKHURST

IT is impossible to witness the film drama "The Birth of a Nation," now being shown at the Liberty Theater, and not want to say something about it.

Every one who has seen it is saying something about it. When one has been crowded upon, pressed down and run over it is against nature not to make some kind of an outcry.

That is the way one feels when coming out of the Liberty Theater. The thing is vast. It is overwhelming. Nothing like it has ever before been put upon the stage.

The tension of the performance is but a single feature of it, but it is that which one feels most poignantly after three straight hours. It begins in an easy way, but commences soon to find its muscle and goes on to the end, pounding upon one's senses with blows that come heavier and heavier, more and more rapid.

It is not apparent what are the grounds of the objections urged against it nor what is the animus of those who are scheming to have the exhibition prohibited.

The national board of censorship has approved it and reaffirmed its approval. The popular indorsement which the play has since received by the thousands who are seeing it daily will require more than small prejudices or moral eccentricities to disturb. In the meantime efforts to suppress it are thus far successful in nothing so much as in giving it wider and more remunerative publicity.

The intimate familiarity which David W. Griffith has shown with the events of the reconstruction period along with the detailed scholarly study which he has made of the wider territory of events which the play covers renders the production one of surprising educational value to those who were either young children still or even unborn in the stirring years of 1860 to 1870. A boy can learn more true history and get more of the atmosphere of the period by sitting down for three hours before the film which Mr. Griffith has produced with such artistic skill than by weeks and months of study in the classroom.

This drama is a telling illustration of the possibilities of motion pictures as an instrument of instruction in history.

The criticism that it exhibits the negro in an unfortunate light and that it is calculated to engender racial animosity is fully met by the consideration that it represents the negro, not as he is now at all, but as he was in the days when he had just had the chains broken from him and when he was rioting in the deliciousness of a liberty so new and untitled that he had not yet learned to understand it and was as ignorant as a baby of the way to use it. It is in this respect exactly true to history, and if it reflects upon the negro as he was then it is a compliment to the black man of today. An exhibition of lawlessness might not have been proper thirty or forty years ago. Such proprieties change with the passing of time.

The battle scenes which Mr. Griffith has depicted are of surpassing power and realism. Every lover of peace must experience a certain painful gratification that just at this time the ghastly horrors of carnage can be brought so closely home to the eye. It is one thing to read about the trenches, the killing and the corpses. It is quite another thing to have them bodily pressed before the eye, with all the demoniac fury that marks conflict at close range. A well written description of a battlefield allows the place and the occasion to be invested with features of magnificence, with the heroism of the contestants and the glory of the victors. On Griffith's screen we see the real thing. There is no magnificence, no glory, but horror, brutality and stark butchery. It sickens with the sense of man's inhumanity to man. It makes war despicable and devilish. It conveys an indelible lesson to all who have been bewitched by those who have decked out the naked hideousness of war with tinsel drapery.

There are also scenes of surpassing dignity and beauty done by a master artist's hand—the signing by the president of the proclamation for volunteers which marked the end of the old regime, the surrender of Lee to Grant and the assassination of the president in Ford's theatre.

The tender affection in which Mr. Lincoln is held was manifested in the way the great audience received the scene of a heartbroken southern mother pleading with him for her son, sentenced to death as a guerrilla. Every eye was dim with tears in the straining hush that fell on the theater. What might not our country have been saved had the problem of reconstruction been left to the great heart—the one man who compassed within himself the resources of the intelligence, experience, breadth and sympathy of Abraham Lincoln!

"The Birth of a Nation" has my unqualified approval.

COTTONSEED OIL

New York, Feb. 29.—Cotton seed oil made new high price records on urgent demand from shorts and buying by refiners. Prices showed net gains of 4 to 6 cents but were off some 4 to 9 points from the early high point, the result of profit taking.

The close of the market was given as steady.

MARKET REPORT

COTTON

New York, Feb. 29.—The cotton market showed continued irregularity today, but the undertone was steadier, with May contracts selling at 14.47, or 15 points above last night's final figures, and closing at 14.43. The general list closed steady at a net advance of 7 to 12 points.

Liverpool was rather better than due and the market here opened steady at a decline of 1 point on March, but generally 4 to 5 points higher. The circulation of a few March notices estimated at about 3000 bales probably accounted for the relatively easy ruling of the near month, but the general list worked higher during the morning on Liverpool buying, covering short and a moderate demand from reactionists. Active positions showed rallies of 22 to 23 points from recent low levels.

Fluctuations were irregular during the afternoon. May contracts eased off to 14.39 shortly after midday but rallied within 1 or 2 points of the best. Private cables reported a quiet but steady market in Liverpool.

The southern selling here during the afternoon was attributed partly to southern spot firms, but was accompanied by rumors of an improved spot demand and a steadier tone among spot holders.

EVANGELIST PREACHES ON REALITY OF HELL

GOOD ATTENDANCE DESPITE THE DOWNTOWN ATTRACTIONS
—IN REVIVAL.

Hell a Place of Both Bodily and Soul
Torment, Declares Speaker—Upholds
Interpretation of Scriptures.

In spite of downtown attractions, there was a good crowd present last night to hear Evangelist Wright, who is conducting the revival meetings at the First Presbyterian church.

This morning at 10 o'clock the ladies will hold neighborhood prayer meetings at the following homes: Mrs. Frazier, 2303 Sanger; Mrs. Ligon, 1310 Franklin; Mrs. Morrow, 1905 Mitchell; Mrs. N. H. Smith, 2190 Parrott.

This afternoon at 3:15 the subject will be "Hindrances to Answered Prayer."

This evening at 7:25 all personal workers are asked to meet with Mr. McKenzie in the Sunday school room of the church.

At 7:45 Dr. Wright will preach. His subject will not be announced beforehand.

Last evening Dr. Wright preached on the subject, "Hell." He made many references to the Scriptures. Some of the more striking sentences follow:

Sermon on Hell.

"I believe the Bible to be the word of God and that its statements come with authority from God. I do not care what the scholarship of the day may say in contradiction of its statements regarding hell; for the scholarship of today is like a flea. It jumps all around until you cannot find it; and half of the time it does not know itself where it is."

"I believe there is a hell, because Christ says there is. In the parable of the rich man and Lazarus, He speaks pointedly of hell."

"A man is butting his intellect against a frozen sky when he comes to philosophize as to the future. There is nothing outside the Word of God which gives us any light of the world to come."

"I am sick of any man-made stuff. We must have God on our side, if we are to save souls."

"Hell is a place of both bodily and soul torment."

"There is a time coming in the life of every person when God will bring before his memory in quick succession every deed, both good and bad, of his whole experience."

"Everlasting destruction does not mean annihilation, as some of us might wish, but as used in the Bible, it means being lost from God, and in eternal torment."

"God says that the man who breaks the seventh commandment is on the road to hell."

"A great many people say that God is too good to damn anyone. Of all arguments, it seems to me that this is the one that shows the most ignorance. God who brought a just judgment on Babylon, Rome and Jerusalem and the other cities of the past who sinned against Him, will certainly punish the individual who sins against His law and denies His Son."

"The man who is lost brings it on himself by resisting the Holy Spirit and rejecting the love of God."

Mr. McKenzie and Dr. Wright each sang solos.

SELEY FELICITATES SHEPPARD ON SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION

Copies of the joint resolution introduced February 25 by Senator Morris Sheppard have been received in Waco. The resolution which was read twice and referred to the committee on commerce, authorizes and directs the secretary of war to cause surveys to be made of navigable streams and their tributaries in Texas, and report plans to prevent floods and promote navigation.

The following telegram was sent to Senator Sheppard yesterday by Col. V. W. Seley, president of the Brazos River and Valley Improvement association, upon receipt of a copy of the joint resolution:

"United States Senator Hon. Morris Sheppard,

"Washington, D. C.

"Your many friends in Texas, especially along the Brazos river, feel grateful to you for all your efforts in securing the aid of the federal government to prevent overflows and floods damage and promote navigation. Your joint resolution of February 25 pleased us much."

Following is a copy of the resolution:

"Resolved by the senate and house of representatives of the United States of America in congress assembled that the secretary of war is hereby authorized and directed to cause examinations and surveys to be made of the navigable rivers and streams tributary thereto in the state of Texas on the boundaries of said state to ascertain and determine the most feasible plans to prevent overflow of and floods from the same, with a view to conserve and promote navigation thereon, and report such plans to congress at the earliest possible date."

"Sec. 2. That to enable the secretary of war to execute the provisions of this joint resolution there is hereby appropriated, out of the money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated, the sum of $100,000, or so much thereof as may be necessary, the same to be expended under the direction of the president and the secretary of war."

Y. M. C. A. Men Plan for Big Convention

Things look good for a big attendance at the State Y. M. C. A. convention to be held in Waco a week from today. John L. Hunter of Dallas, state student secretary, was in the city yesterday to help arrange plans. He has been to Marlin lately, and was promised a good delegation from there, and went from here to McGregor.

Secretary S. R. Hankins of the Waco association will go to Corsicana today, probably, to work up interest there. Reports received from various places indicate that the important cities of the state will be well represented.

Headquarters will be at the Raleigh.

CITY NEWS BRIEFS.

The regular meeting of the Waco Dental society will be held tomorrow night in the office of Dr. J. W. Murphy, 904 Amicable building. The program will begin at 7:30. Dr. J. O. Hall is essayist.

Leap Year did not swell the marriage license record for McLennan county, so far as February, the month with the extra day, is concerned. There were only ninety-one licenses issued by County Clerk John W. Baker during the month. Seventy-two persons purchased new automobiles and six motorcycles during the month, according to the records in Mr. Baker's office.

Waco set a new record for domestic consumption of natural gas during the month of February. Figures obtained last night from the Texas Power and Light company showed that 52,700,000 cubic feet had been used here during the month, which sets a new record. The addition of several large consumers and the unusual cold weather are given by the company as the reasons for the big amount used.

The Bohemian ladies of Waco gave a leap year dance at Labor hall Monday night, which was largely attended and greatly enjoyed by those present. The receipts will be placed in the fund for the erection of a Bohemian hall here, more than $700 already having been raised.

Quay Memorial Park Is Shakspeare Club's Gift to Civic Beautification

Another in the chain of small parks that are making Waco famous will result from the decision of the board of water commissioners to accept the offer of the Shakspeare club to park the space between the filtration plant and the river driveway. The park will be named in honor of S. J. Quay, formerly superintendent of the city waterworks, and who was killed in an automobile accident several months ago.

The proposal of the Shakspeare club, which was to provide a fountain, rustic seats, etc., for the park, the water board in turn to sod the plot and pipe it for water, was accepted by the water board at its regular meeting last Monday night. Mrs. J. M. Hale, chairman of the committee of the Shakspeare club, was notified of the acceptance yesterday.

Quay park will be the first of many similar spots along the river drive, is the hope of the Shakspeare club committee expressed by Mrs. Hale last night. It was with the look forward toward the time when boats will ply the Brazos, that the club had for several years deliberated the idea of a park along the river bank. The late Mr. Quay suggested the space between the handsome new filtration plant and the river driveway, and it was his untimely death that has delayed the fruition of the idea to this time.

The location for the new park is naturally susceptible to treatment which will make it one of the most beautiful in the country. Level with the driveway, a smooth grass expanse will stretch back a distance to the foot of a magnificent terrace, which will lift itself to the level of the filtration plant grounds, already parked in excellent manner. The buildings themselves are of handsome architecture, and will harmonize perfectly with the whole scheme.

The time for commencing work on the park will probably be decided by the Shakspeare club at its meeting next Monday night, when the report of Mrs. Hale stated last night that it was the hope of the committee to begin the work within the next few days in order that the park might be dedicated during April.

Resides Mrs. Hale, members of the committee in charge of the matter are Mrs. J. W. Downs and Mrs. J. P. Carpenter.

RECORD SUM TAKEN IN BY COLLECTOR ON LAST PAYMENT DAY

The rush produced at the city tax collector's office by the last day before the ten per cent penalty goes into effect was unprecedented yesterday, according to City Tax Collector R. L. Strubling. Taxes received yesterday totaled $122,181.30. Collections for the month were $310,110.65. The amount of taxes upon which the delinquent penalty will apply could not be determined by Mr. Strubling last night. Action of the city commission allowed an extension to June 1 of time for the penalty to go into effect if half of taxes was paid before March 1.

The largest single payment of taxes was made yesterday by the Amicable Life Insurance company, their check for $18,607.73 representing full payment of taxes on property assessed at $1,062.30.
